SCHOOL REPORT.

In compliance with the laws of the State, the School Committee of Richmond presents the annual report of the common schools for the year ending March 1, 1884.

Whole amount of money appropriated,	$1,032 00
Literary fund,	68 54
Balance in the Treasury, March 1, 1883,	348 63
	<hr/>
	$1,449 17
Amount expended,	$1,113 79
Balance in treasury, March 1, 1884,	$335 38

The amount appropriated to each district, and the unexpended balance in the treasury of the town belonging to each district separately may be seen in table one of this report, except the appropriation for the Swanzey district of $23 09.

The aggregate number of weeks' school, 200.6; whole number of scholars, 145; cost per scholar, $7 59; average daily attendance, 120.74; cost per scholar based upon the average attendance, $9 11; total number of days' absence, 610; number of tardies, 102; dismissals, 5; number of visits by Superintending Committee, 42; visits by others, 353.

In presenting this report it is very gratifying to note that of the eleven schools, all have been generally successful; of the fourteen different teachers employed, only three were beginners.

It will be seen that there is a decrease in the average attendance, and number of pupils from last year. The number of scholars in town is nearly the same as last year, but the decrease in the number attending school is owing to some attending elsewhere, and there being no school in one district in which there are only three or four pupils of school age.

The decrease in the average attendance was caused by non-attendance. No scholar should be kept from school to labor or to visit a friend, which is too often the case. It is the youth of today that we look upon for the men and women of tomorrow, and into whose hands the affairs of the nation must fall; for those who are now filling the various offices in town, county and state, will soon pass away, and our children will be called to fill their places.

In some school rooms the blackboards are in a bad condition, the surface being so hard and glossy that a mark can hardly be made visible. Prudential committees should see that the blackboards in their school rooms are in good condition; in some rooms they are too near the stove, as the heat will soon injure them.

Districts Nos. 7 and 8 have been united the past year by the school committee and selectmen, a move in the right direction. Both districts can now have nearly double the amount of schooling than they could in separate districts.

School districts having less than twelve scholars to attend any term of school may by vote at their annual or other legal meeting, called for that purpose, authorize the prudential committee to provide for the attendance of pupils at the schools of adjoining districts, the selection of such schools to be approved by the school committee of the town, and in such cases the prudential committee is authorized to appropriate an amount not exceeding ten per cent., for the conveyance to and from school, pupils residing not less than one mile and a half from school, and to divide the remainder of the money appropriated for the term in the district among the adjoining districts in proportion to the pupils by them received.

Are-introduction of Franklin's Readers has been made the past year, and shall continue in use for five years from Oct. 1, 1883, and as much longer as may be deemed expedient.

The teacher in district No. 9 has been instrumental in procuring a globe for that school.

May each district take measures to provide their school rooms with some illustrative apparatus, materials which are indispensable to every school; without them our children are often kept in the dark in regard to many questions, which by their aid would be made plain and comprehensible.

SPECIAL REPORTS.

DISTRICT No. 1. One term. This school was under the management of a faithful and competent teacher, who labored with much enthusiasm for the advancement of her pupils.

DISTRICT No. 2. First term. Only one visit was made this school, which then seemed to be making fair progress. Owing to sickness and death of the prudential committee the term closed after keeping four weeks.

Second term. The number of pupils at this term was much smaller than previous ones, but the interest of those in attendance was preserved as in the past. Good discipline and thoroughness in recitations characterized the success of the term.

DISTRICT No. 3. Two terms. Both of which were taught by beginners, with good success.

DISTRICT No. 4. Two terms. Two different teachers employed, who labored with untiring devotion for the interest of their pupils.

DISTRICT No. 5. First term was in charge of an experienced instructor whose labor was much appreciated.

Second term was taught by a beginner who possessed good qualifications, and with experience may rank with the first teachers. The exercises at the examination were very interesting.

DISTRICT No. 6. Three terms. A teacher of large experience was engaged for the first and second terms, with success.

Third term was taught by a graduate of Union College, Schenectady, N. Y., whose superior qualifications enabled him to perform his duties faithfully and understandingly.

DISTRICT No. 8. One term. Only one visit was made this school, which was found to be in good working order; both teacher and pupils seemed to be doing all they could. A profitable term is reported.

DISTRICT No. 9. Both terms were taught by the same teacher whose past record in this district has been so well spoken of. Much interest was manifested in the school, and no pains were spared to make each term successful.

DISTRICT No. 13. First term. The teacher of this school worked with an untiring effort for the progress of her pupils, which was well rewarded.

Second term. One visit was made this school. The pupils were orderly and studious, giving favorable impressions that a profitable term would be the result.

DISTRICT No. 14. Two terms both of which were under the direction of the same teacher who performed faithfully the duties incumbent upon her. The examination of both terms showed that a marked improvement had been made.

DISTRICT No. 16. One term. The number of scholars was much larger than at previous terms, and with the aid of an energetic and faithful teacher the school was a success.
